Eight children and fifty-eight grand children, great - grandchildren and great - great - grandchildren were among those present at the birthday celebration.

Lay the desired number of prunes, either three or four, in nests of shredded lettuce or white lettuce leaves. Top with mayonnaise and serve very cold with browned crackers and cream cheese. This salad may be varied by filling the prunes with rolls of the cream or Neufchatel cheese instead of the nuts. —in April Good Housekeeping.

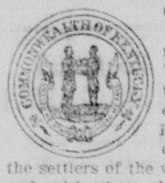
The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XV.—KENTUCKY



THE kinship of Kentucky and Virginia is that of parent and child. From Virginia came most of the settlers of the western state, and with them these pioneers brought Virginia institutions and ideals. It was not until 1750 that the first authentic journey was made by a white man into central parts of the region afterwards called Kentucky.

Further explorations showed that this territory held two important attractions for settlers. The first was the great fertility of what was called the Blue Grass region. The so-called blue grass, from which this state is nicknamed the "Blue Grass State" is in no wise peculiar to Kentucky.

The second inducement for settlers was the fact that there were no Indians living in this region. It was later found that many roving bands of savages crossed the Ohio from the north and sorely harassed the early colonists until Clark's expeditions into Ohio and Indiana checked their invasions. In fact, the name Kentucky is probably derived from the Iroquois word kentin-ke,' meaning "hunting land." Another interpretation is "dark and bloody ground," but this is doubtless incorrect.

The main highways of travel at that time were Daniel Boone's "Wilderness Road" through Cumberland Gap and down the Ohio. Hardy pioneers poured into this new territory in such numbers that in 1792, with the permission of Virginia, Kentucky was admitted to the Union as the fifteenth state with an area of 40,598 square miles. Kentucky has thirteen electoral votes for president. The remarkable physical condition of its population is shown in a report of the volunteers in the Civil war. This gave their average height as nearly an inch taller than the New England troops and with a correspondingly greater girth of chest.

"Partners of the Tide"

Even a blase critic could not but feel rejuvenated by the freshness and invigoration of Irvin V. Willat's second independent production. "Partners of the Tide," which is being released through the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation at the Empire Theatre tonight and tomorrow night.

"Partners of the Tide" is adapted by L. V. Jefferson, well known for other successful adaptations, from the story of the same name by Joseph C. Lincoln, the famous novelist. There is a highly capable cast, including Daisy Robinson, Gorden Mullen, Jack Perrin, Florence Midgely, Bert Hadley, J. P. Lockney and others. Marion Faducha, a remarkably gifted youngster, gave a portrayal of the hero before he grows up that stood out conspicuously among a long list of memories of child delineations because of its absence of affectation. Would that there were more children on stage and screen like you, little Marion!

TIME LIMIT ON MOVIE KISS PROPOSED

SHOULD THERE BE JUST SO MUCH TIME FOR RECESS?

3-FOOT KISS TWO SECOND

Cheek or Forehead Proper Place Not Mouth—Circumstances Alter Cases Says One.

Chicago, April 1.—Is the three-foot kiss long enough for the movies?

Does film osculation of greater duration corrupt the morals of motion picture fans?

Should there be any time limit on the celluloid caress?

These questions form the basis of a controversy which arose among representative Chicago citizens, when a dispatch was received from Baltimore, declaring that, in the opinion of the Maryland Citizens' League for Better Motion Pictures, the "three-foot kiss" was long enough for any movie film.

A "three foot kiss" it was explained ediast exactly two seconds. Film kisses longer than that, it was declared in a petition by the organization to Governor Ritchie, are objectionable.

Here's what some well-known persons in Chicago think about it:

Edith Taliaferro, star in "Kissing Time"—"It depends entirely on who is doing the kissing. There are some movie stars who can kiss for 300 feet and are well worth watching, but I've seen others who shouldn't be allowed to kiss even their own wives and husbands they're so clumsy at it. I believe that the three-foot kiss is long enough for the stage."

Max Ascher, of Ascher Brothers, motion picture theatre proprietors—"The proposal is just another ridiculous move on the part of reformers who haven't anything better to do. The length of a screen kiss should be determined by the requirements of the scenario. If a movie kiss is harmful, it can be so in one or fifteen feet—the time makes no difference. The kiss is a symbol of love, and is taught in the strictest and most respectable families from childhood.'

Arthur Burrage Farwell, head of the Chicago Law and Order League—"Any kiss tending to arouse passion should be eliminated. Personally, I am against depicting kissing on the mouth. I have known of two cases where death resulted from kissing in this fashion through transmision of disease. In 1888 my three-year-old boy died of scarlet fever tranmitted by a kiss of a playmate. The most innocent kiss can be fatal. The check or forehead is the proper place to kiss."

Albert Webster, head of the Juvenile Protective League—"Kissing in the movies is less dangerous than it is in actual practice. However, I believe that three feet is long enough for a 'soul kiss.'"

W. F. Willis, chief motion picture censor—"It depends on the circumstances of the scenario. I think that a husband shown as leaving on a long journey should be allowed more than three feet to kiss his wife goodbye, and the same would apply to a soldier greeting his mother on returning home from the war."

TO PROBE CARE DISABLED VETERANS OF COUNTRY

Rotary Clubs Will Make Nation Wide Survey of Conditions

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30—The board of directors of the International Association of Rotary Clubs has ordered a nation-wide survey of conditions surrounding the care of disabled veterans, "to prove whether American Legion reports are based on hysteria or upon actual facts," according to a letter received at Legion headquarters from Chesley N. Perry, Chicago, secretary-general of the Rotary organization. Mr. Perry said the Rotary board had endorsed the Legion's consolidation programme for relief to the disabled and would support the legion's efforts to obtain its enactment into law. His letter says:

"The 50,000 American business and professional men who form the 800 Rotary Clubs of the United States have started out to gather the actual facts in their respective communities with regard to the manner in which the United States Government is handling the cases of disabled ex-soldiers. The Rotarians have been shocked by the disclosures made by the American Legion regarding the circumstances surrounding the rehabilitation of Uncle Sam's disabled ex-service men. Each Rotary club is appointing a special committee to investigate conditions in its community and report to the club. Every club will then report to the headquarters office of Rotary Club in Chicago. The result will be that from 800 communities in every part of the United States will come evidence of business and professional men to prove to the American people whether or not the American Legion reports are based on hysteria or upon actual facts so revolting and heartrending as to cause the whole American people to rise in their might and do justice to the men who sacrificed themselves for their country."

F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the legion, asserted the legion welcomed the Rotary investigation.

"I hope its findings will be given the widest publicity," he said. "It will be found the legion has not overstated the case in any particular."

ARRANGEMENTS FINAL EXAMINATIONS COMPLETED SOON

Central Point in Each Township to be Named—Committee of 3 Will Have Charge.

The arrangements for the final examinations of the eighth grade children of the rural schools will be completed next week, according to Bert Cooper, superintendent of schools. The names of the high school, which have offered scholarships will be announced. There are 17 high schools in Nodaway county and some of them offer free scholarships to the children who finish the grammar grade work.

A central place for the examinations is to be named in each township and a committee of three teachers from each township named to give the examinations. The children go to the nearest point to be examined. This is a much better arrangement than having all of the children come to one place such as the county seat. The questions are made out and all details of the examinations arranged by the county superintendent.

All of the children take the examination at the same time, April 22-23. Those who pass take high school work next fall. Under the county unit bill this will be compulsory. The children will not have the discretion of going to work or going to school. They must attend high school. About 200 children will take this examination the last of April.

MOCK TRIAL HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Ruth Houchens Acquited in Breach of Promice Suit Brought by Stanley Aley

In the mock trial held at the high school yesterday afternoon, Ruth Houchins the defendent in the case was acquitted of the charge of breach of promice made by the plaintiff, Stanley Aley. The trial was exceptionally good.

As judge, Eugene Crowson played the part and showed up well in his manner of dealing with those of the audience who were brought before him charged with contempt of coart.

The two lawyers, Frank Mapel for the plaintiff and William Curl for the defendant were very good; their appeals to the jury being very fitting.

The witnesses, Stanley Aley, Odette Wilderman, Ed Fritz, Leonard Gray, Ruth Houchins, Lorena Fenton, Ruth Miller, Russell Allen were very good and drew a round of applause. Odette Wilderman and Ruth Miller especially were good. The former as a friend of both parties and latter as the mother of the defendant were true to life "Buckskin" Campbell and "Doc" Dowell as deputy sheriffs made several arrests for misbehavior and charged arrested parties with everything from conflict of court to "raisin' cain."

Near the end of the trial a slight accident occured. The judge, who was sitting on high seat befitting his rank, suddenly dissapeared from sight amid a loud clatter and banging. It was discovered that a rope had been attached to his chair and at a certain moment some miscreant had jerked on it thereby causing his honor to lose both his dignity and his position.

After the two lawyers had made lengthy addresses to the jury petitioning their favor the jury adjourned and after a few minutes deliberation returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

DAWSON'S LAST TERM IN CENTRY COUNTY

As the New Redictricting Law for Judicial Districts Will be in Force Soon.

The Albany Ledger had the following in this week's issue:

It is probable that the present term of circuit is the last one Judge J. M. Dawson will hold in Albany, as the new law redistricting the judicial circuits will be in force before the next term is scheduled.

By the terms of this bill Gentry county will be in a circuit with Worth, Dekalb, Harrison, Grundy and Mercer, and it will be safely and securely Republican in politics. Nodaway county will be joined with Atchison, Andrew and Holt and that circuit will also be strongly Republican by a majority of something like 3,000 in normal times. The circuit presided over by Judge Dawson comprises Gentry, Nodaway, Worth and Atchison counties, and has been Democratic by a small majority.

The next term will be in charge of Judge Wood, of Princeton, who will hereafter be the regular circuit judge.

One unusual situation will come before the next term, according to Circuit Clerk Ed E. Birge, and it will be one that has never before happened in the state, it is said by attorneys. There will be six cases in our court on a change of venue from Harrison county and about that number on a change of venue from Grundy county, all being appealed from Judge Wood's jurisdiction; yet they will be docketed to come up before him in this court. What ruling will be made is mere conjecture.

Judge Dawson leaves the Gentry circuit bench with the regret of all who have been in any way connected with the court. During the years he has presided here he has been uniformly fair and impartial and has won the respect and admiration of both attorneys and citizens, and he will leave our court with a record of which he may well be proud.

Circuit Judges will be elected in 1922 and from the present outlook there is little possibility of Judge Dawson being re-elected. The change was made by the Republican legislature as a political advantage, and for no other reason. Republicans and Democrats alike acknowledge the fact, but it is part of the political game. The voters said they wanted a change, and they are getting it. This is a government of majority rule, and of course we abide by it.

RECALLS TIME WHEN HARDING TAUGHT SCHOOL

Colorado Woman Attends District School Taught By President, Early '80

Boulder, Colo., April 1.—The cheery smile that greets callers at the White House in Washington these Spring days is the same that beamed upon his pupils when Warren G. Harding was a county schoolmaster in Ohio in the early 80's, according to Mrs. Sarah E. Wright, of this city, who attended a district school taught by the new President of the United States.

"The school was a mile and a half from Marion, Ohio, and was known as the "Little White School." Mrs. Wright said here. "But the mutations of time have wrought great changes—the schoolmaster is now President of the United States and the schoolhouse has been converted into a garage.

"Mr. Harding was about eighteen years of age then," Mrs. Wright continued. "He was a handsome young fellow, tall, of erect bearing and cheerful.

"I recall that my younger sister stayed out of school one day after she had committed some breach of discipline. When we persuaded her to return the following day Mr. Harding asked her why she remained away from her lessons. She said she was afraid she would be whipped.

"Oh, I couldn't whip a little girl like you," Mr. Harding said, with a beam of kindness on his face.

"We all loved him then, and I guess most people love him yet."

PRESS YOUR CLOTHES BEFORE STORING

The tailor tells me that one of the greatest advantages of pressing is that it kills any hidden moth eggs. Clothes are safe if carefully put away after being pressed.

MEN CARRY PARASOLS, WOMEN WEAR MONOCLES.

Paris, April 1.—Ususally considered the forerunners of spring styles in Paris, fashions at Nice this winter have undergone noticeable changes. Thus men today carry small, brightly colored sunshades and women are wearing monocles and carrying light canes with truly masculine gests.

Men Reach Here From Orient Where They Have Made Study of Country

San. Francisco, April 1.—Back from a nine-months' trip on which he studied shore-line processes in relation to harbor development from Coos Bay, Ore., to Seward, Alaska, and from the Behring Sea to Saigon, French Indo-China, Professor Collier Cobb, head of the Department of Geology in the University of North Carolina and Kenan research here from the Orient.

Dr. Cobb is a student of shore-lines and sand dunes, in which he is a recognized authority, and during his investigation of harbors also looked into the resources of countries likely to develop great ports.

He was everywhere treated most courteously, Dr. Cobb said, and nowhere more so than Japan. "The Japanese gave me every assistance at various points on the continent of Asia," he said. "I have only praise for the intelligence, fair-mindedness, industry and frugality of the Japanese and Chinese.

"I believe," he added, "that victory in industrial competion lies with them unless American labor learns to work effectively and to live less wastefully."

Dr. Cobb has written the following outline of the possibilities of the Far East:

"China has one-third more territory than the United States and four times the population, and in spite of the dense population in many sections there are vast areas in the north and west of China suited to and used for raising cattle, sheep, hogs, and, in much smaller measure, camels.

"The great problem in China is one of transportation. While millions were starving in four or five provinces in China, wheat at the close of 1920 was selling at 10 cents a bushel in Szechwan, 2,000 miles away, because of lack of transportation facilities. The building of railways and of highways and the reistablishment of the old canals, will soon remedy all of this This will probably be the first work encouraged by the Consortium, and it will be a paying investment, for China is even richer in resourses of coal and iron and various economic minerals, than the United States and unsurpassed in her agricultural products and possibilities.

"The railways of China are well managed, and the Chinese have recently begun the construction of modern ships at four principal shipbuilding yards which are capable of turning out a modern ocean carrier complete. The younger men of China, many of whom have been educated abroad, are able, alert and effective business men and they are all distinctly freindly to the United States.

Vast Mineral Deposits

"Siberia is also a land of vast undeveloped resourses and unutilized waterways. Besides her extensive grassy plains and two great forests belts—one of conifers and one of hardwoods—she has important mineral deposits awaiting development.

"The Kusnetz Coal Basin in the District of Tomsk.

"A large large deposit of iron ore on the Pacific Coast along Olga Bay.

"Oil on Sakhalein.

"Platinum in the Irkutsk region.

"Gold at a number of points near the coast, and particularly along the Zea an Burea Rivers, affulents of the Amur.

"Thus vast deposits of coal and iron, of oil and of copper; extensive forests, and wide grazing lands with abundant cattle, are already known in Siberia. Siberia's development, like that of China, needs only adequate transportation facilities. The rivers of the country are navigable for thousands of miles, the Lena alone having more than 2,500 miles of navigable water, one branch reaching almost to the Trans-Siberian Railway at Irkutsk (Katchug) and another within a short distance of the Port of Aian on the sea of Okhotsk (Nelkan).

"Either railways or canals connecting these points, the one through a nearly level plain and the other across a low gap in the mountains, would go far toward opening up to commerce a region capable of supplying raw material to the world for many years to come.

English is Spoken

"The wide use of the English language in Asia is a matter of deep interest. Pigeon English is not only the language of foreign commerce in China, but is is also the language of trade between the provinces. The Chinese language is written with ideagraphs and is understood in all the provinces, notwithstanding their spoken languages are all different. We have a parallel in the wide use of Arabic numerals which are used and understood the world over, though the numbers they represent are different in their spoken form in every land. Pigeon English is written mainly with English words arranged according to the Chinese idiom, with all unnecessary frills ommitted and this has become the trade language of China.

"English is the only language spoken in Chukotsk, the extreme northeast province of Asia, the Esquamaux heving learned it from Alaska gold seekers, hunters and traders.
